

Lauryn Jones Final: Project Assets

1. A title: "Welcome To Walts"
2. A logo (a quick sketch is fine):

3. A draft of writing for your home page introduction:

Hey guys welcome to Walts! Here we talk about all things Disney. We sell merchandise made by our community, keep you updated on new and upcoming attractions to theme parks, and review films. segassem detcirtser dna terces rof koolL...

4. A draft of writing for the "about" page:

Hey, I'm Springtrap, the creator of this site. I just want to create a place for Disney fans to come together and talk about everything Disney, so feel free to join the community. Everyone's welcome! Remember to take your time and LOOK very closely... I wouldn't want you to miss anything.

5. 3 pieces of "research" + Any images that will be included in your "research" :

I'm basing a lot of my final project on "Five Nights At Freddie's" ( FNAF ) so here is another website that helps set a tone and gives some background details on the game and franchise. It also allows you to play the game or demo, but it gives a sense of atmosphere and a better understanding. <https://fivenightsatfreddys3.com/>

Whilst looking into Disney animatronics I found a YouTube channel that is pretty similar to what I want the "outside front" of my website to feel like, it also has plenty of videos showing Disney animatronics malfunctioning. <https://www.youtube.com/@TPMvids>

I was taking a shot in the dark and looking for Disney animatronic blueprints, but I ended up finding some plans on a Reddit thread for an FNAF animatronic. It just so happened to be the animatronic I nicknamed my final website persona Springtrap

https://www.reddit.com/r/Animatronics/comments/1djlcz3/i\_have\_plans/?rdt=33195
<https://d23.com/audio-animatronics-disneyland-magic-kingdom-walt-disney-world/>

6. Any videos or audio that will support your research:

Here is another video from the YouTube channel I mentioned earlier it has some scenes that I think I could add to create a “creepy” feel. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=rMeQES4fSF8>

7. A product: A Micky Mouse Springtrap plushie. It's Micky in a springtrap costume.

8. A draft writing of the conclusion:

SpringTraps final message...

It turns out that Disney has been practicing questionable rituals and methods to bring back Walt Disney himself, however, these have all been failed attempts, rather than the dark nature of their actions being directed at their dear leader it has affected the animatronics. At first causing small malfunctions, leaks, and broken parts, but later causing animatronics to move and function all on their own, performing actions that went far beyond their programming.

Around the same time as these mysterious rituals security guards and other Disney employees started to go missing, one being a very close friend of mine. This is why I started my investigations I started just by going to various theme parks and attractions related to Disney looking for any clues that could give me a lead, I kept searching for months but I couldn't find anything. I only had one place left to visit before I made somewhat of a breakthrough, it was dumb and I didn't think anything could come from it... I went to Chicago Illinois to visit the Museum of Science and Industry where Walt's mechanical bird was displayed. Whilst there I couldn't shake the feeling that someone was watching me I searched and analyzed the faces of those around me but I couldn't find anyone this is when I saw the bird from the corner of my eye watching me, I froze, without making eye contact with it I walked around pretending to look at other things around the museum but it continued to watch me. This is when I realized the lead I needed was right under my nose. The animatronics froze in place, seeming to vomit fuel, the ones that shake violently aren't malfunctions... or at least normal ones... they are being affected by something... and it's something dangerous, judging by the range of animatronics and distance between theme parks whatever it is it's strong...